

Note:

Waiting until all authoritatives have picked up on the change is the best, but you may run into a forwarding problem in the DNS infra. Still, it's good to detect that and, more importantly, not to fail on account of it.